ENTRY LEVEL DIVING STANDARDS 2014

ABOUT STANDARDS

Standards exist to protect the divers in training from unnecessary risks and to establish a base level for Certification.

ITDA Group International has been training divers since the year 2000 to International standards and from 2005 we were UK HSE Approved and since then we have been training to UK HSE Standards.

Our “Entry Level” Scuba Training also meets the International standard of EN 14153-1 / ISO 24801-1 for “Supervised Diver Training”. See below...

- Dive to a recommended maximum depth of 12 m. /40ft. under the direct supervision of a dive leader,
- Dive in groups of up to four level 1 scuba divers per dive leader provided the dive leader is capable of establishing physical contact with all level 1 scuba divers at any point during the dive,
- Make dives which do not require in-water decompression stops,
- Dive only when appropriate support is available at the surface, dive under conditions that are equal or better than the conditions where they were trained.
- If accompanied by a scuba instructor, a scuba diver at level 1 may gain progressive experience beyond these parameters and develop competency in managing more challenging diving conditions designed to lead to higher qualifications.

RESORT SCUBA DIVER AND 2STAR SCUBA DIVER (DRY SUIT DIVER)

Resort Scuba Diving is a lot about just having fun diving, but we must stress that there needs to be caution exercised as the marine environment for us, as humans requires us to use "Life Support Equipment", and to exercise caution over what we do and touch underwater...

As there may be hazards and minor dangers, and it's our job to see that your experience is as safe as possible and that's why we operate higher safety standards for your protection.

The resort diver training program can be completed in just two days but we highly recommend taking three days and thereby taking your time and feeling more relaxed about learning to dive.

We also have a number of options to learn the theory required, you can buy your training materials on-line and take them with you when you complete your course program... Or you can buy the materials from your Instructor or dive Centre when you arrive...
